

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has improved our time at home and has proven to be very effective. I would venture to say that unwanted phone calls have been reduced by a minimum of 75%. I would not be in favor of anything that would be less effective than the law that Indiana has in place.